

Panel 1: Opening Moment

Narration: A college student finds a mysterious old key inside his classroom desk.

Scene: Sreekanth begins the story in A busy college campus and an abandoned photography room, with the events described by this idea: A college student finds a mysterious old key inside his classroom desk. The key opens a hidden door beneath the college library, leading to a secret room filled with glowing clocks. When he touches one clock, time suddenly stops for everyone except him.

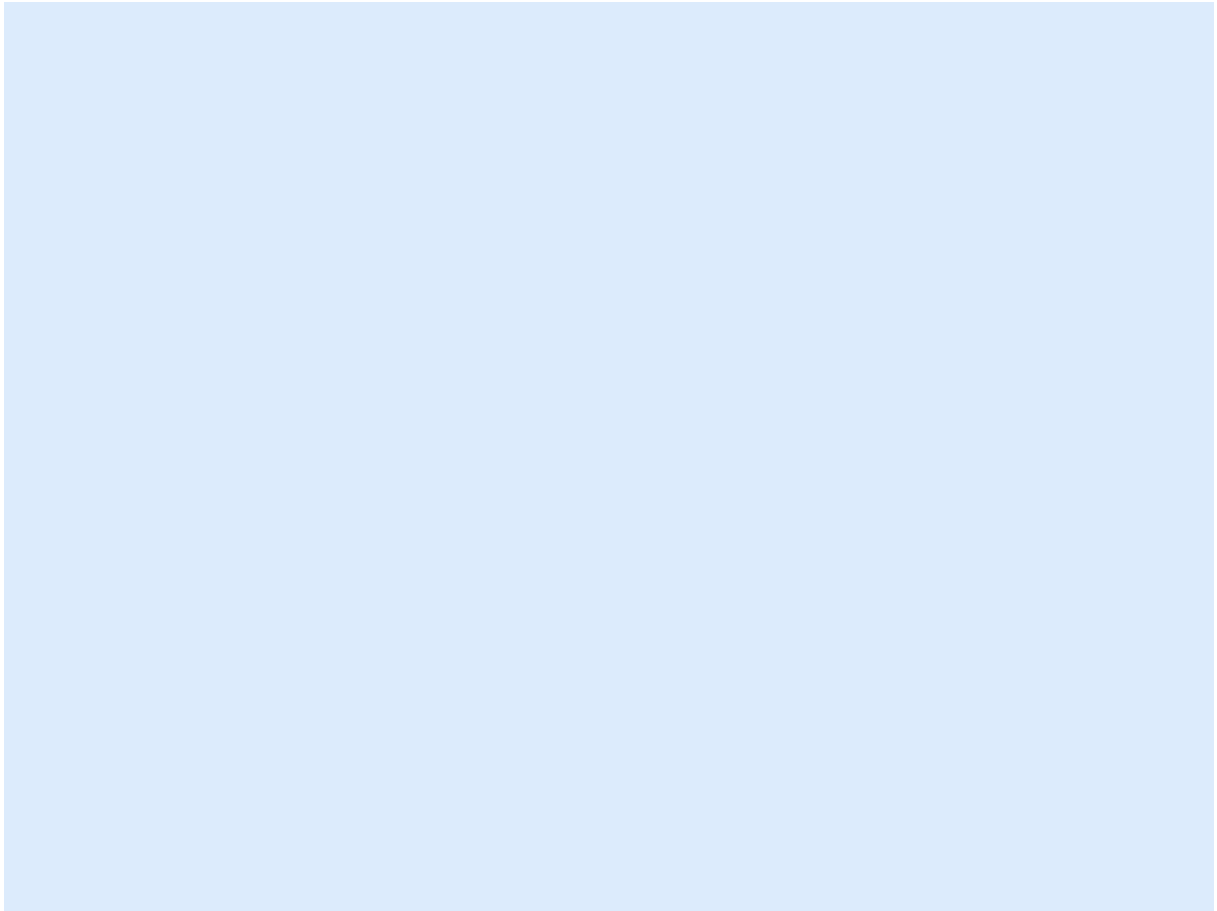

Panel 2: The Central Event

Narration: A college student finds a mysterious old key inside his classroom desk.

Scene: Still in A busy college campus and an abandoned photography room, Sreekanth encounters the central event described by this idea: A college student finds a mysterious old key inside his classroom desk. The key opens a hidden door beneath the college library, leading to a secret room filled with glowing clocks. When he touches one clock, time suddenly stops for everyone except him.

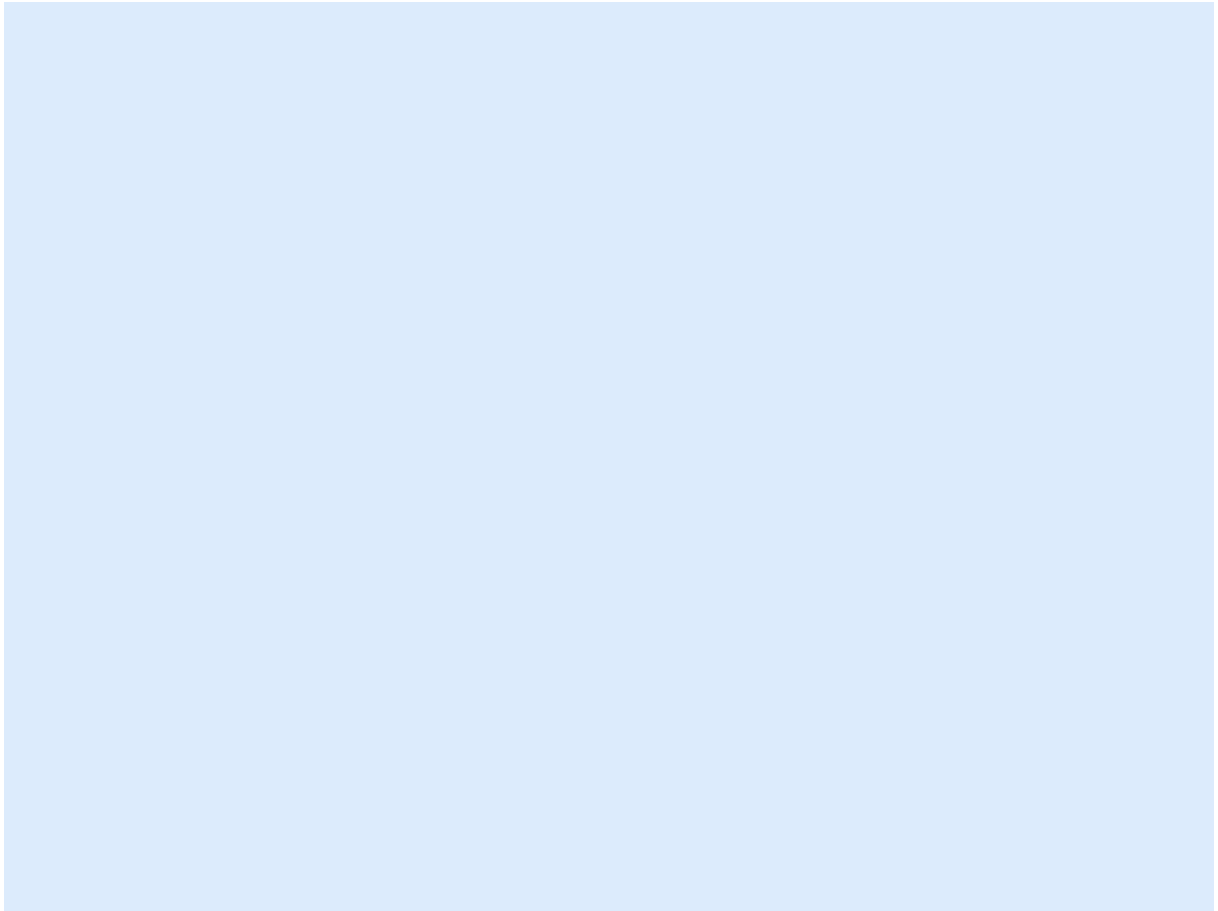

Panel 3: A Response

Narration: A college student finds a mysterious old key inside his classroom desk.

Scene: Still in A busy college campus and an abandoned photography room, Sreekanth responds to the same story event: A college student finds a mysterious old key inside his classroom desk. The key opens a hidden door beneath the college library, leading to a secret room filled with glowing clocks. When he touches one clock, time suddenly stops for everyone except him.

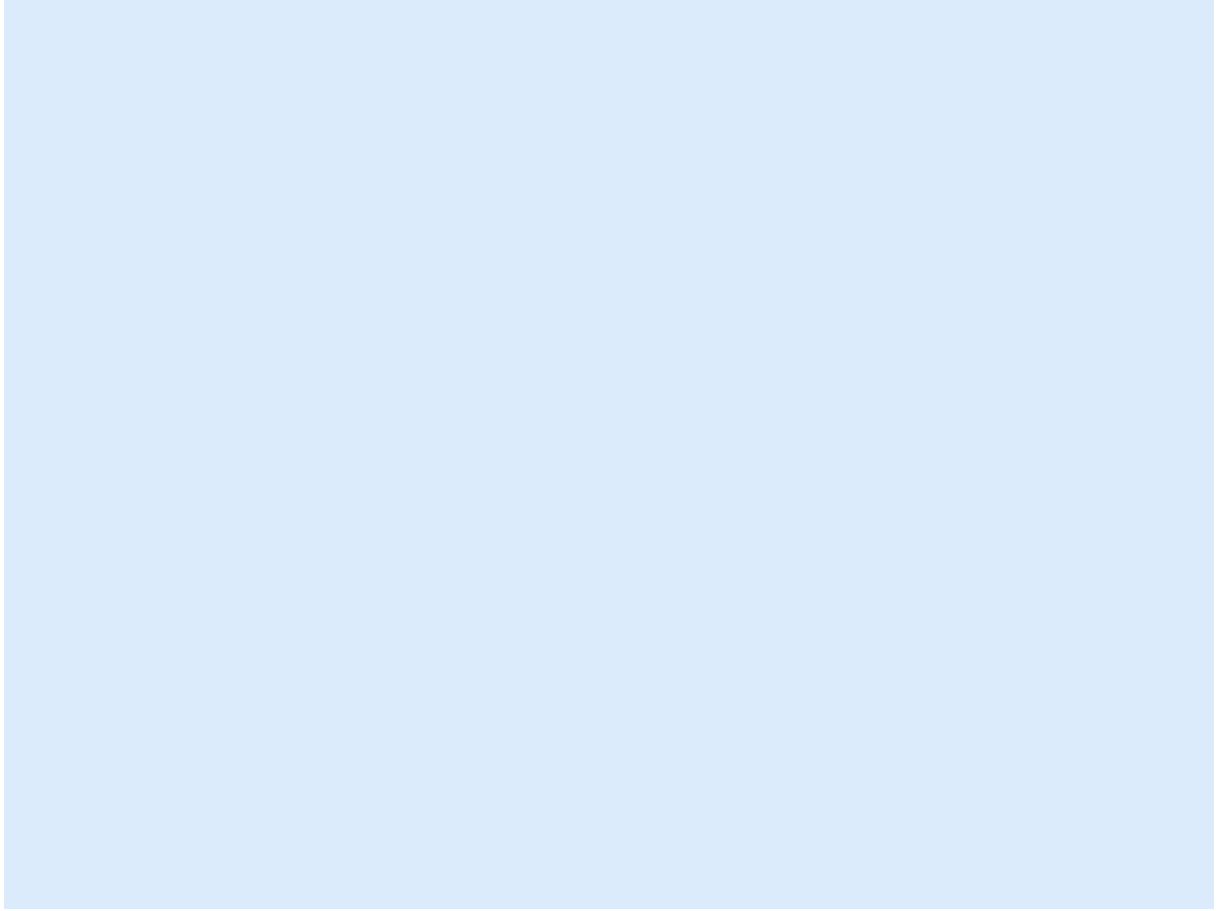

Panel 4: The Key Moment

Narration: A college student finds a mysterious old key inside his classroom desk.

Scene: Still in A busy college campus and an abandoned photography room, Sreekanth reaches the key moment of that same event: A college student finds a mysterious old key inside his classroom desk. The key opens a hidden door beneath the college library, leading to a secret room filled with glowing clocks. When he touches one clock, time suddenly stops for everyone except him.

Panel 5: The Outcome

Narration: A college student finds a mysterious old key inside his classroom desk.

Scene: Still in A busy college campus and an abandoned photography room, Sreekanth sees the immediate outcome of that same event: A college student finds a mysterious old key inside his classroom desk. The key opens a hidden door beneath the college library, leading to a secret room filled with glowing clocks. When he touches one clock, time suddenly stops for everyone except him.